

Road Improvement Update on Seattle Hill Road

You may see Snohomish County Public Works surveyors working along Seattle Hill Road in the coming months. The county is in the early stages of plans for a road improvement project along the corridor between 35th Ave SE and 132nd St SE. During a public open house in February 2013, area residents were introduced to the project.

The preliminary plan is to widen the roadway to three lanes and add a center turn lane. Bike lanes, curbs and sidewalks are also planned along the road. The corridor is an important commuter route for Snohomish County residents, and has received intermittent improvements in the past as nearby residential developments have been built.
