Snohomish County Council Recognizes a Day of Prayer in Snohomish County

On Wednesday April 24th, 2019, the Snohomish County Council passed resolution 19-017, recognizing May 2nd, 2019 as a Day of Prayer in Snohomish County. The National Day of Prayer is an annual observance held on the first Thursday of May, inviting people of all faiths to pray for the nation.

“Snohomish County respects the powerful role prayer plays in the lives of people of faith from all cultures and backgrounds,” said County Council Chair Terry Ryan. “The National Day of Prayer provides an opportunity to pray for our County, State and Nation while honoring our commitment to religious liberty and tolerance.”

“The freedom of religion is engrained in our Constitution and Western tradition,” said Council Vice-Chair Nate Nehring. “The National Day of Prayer recognizes this tradition and the importance of prayer in the lives of all people of faith around the world.”

Snohomish County is a respectful and diverse community, home to people of all backgrounds, faiths, religions and creeds. National Day of Prayer provides an opportunity to pray for our county, state, and nation, its people and its leaders while honoring the commitment to religious liberty and tolerance that contributes to our continued strength.

“The National Day of Prayer is a time to pause and consider the importance of prayer in our daily walk;” reflected Councilmember Sam Low. “Prayer is a time to give thanks, a time to ask for forgiveness, and a time to petition for peace, love, and hope for our community and one another.”

A National Day of Prayer event will be held at the County Courthouse Plaza/Amphitheater on Thursday, May 2nd at 6pm (3000 Rockefeller Ave. Everett, WA 98201).
