Snohomish County Seeks Members for Performance Audit Committee

Volunteer commissioners contribute to efficient and transparent government operations

EVERETT, Wash., January 18, 2022 – Snohomish County Performance Audit Committee (PAC) is represented by citizens who are nominated by county councilmembers to represent their districts and also nominated by the County Executive to serve as members at large. The PAC advises and reviews department audits by assisting in identifying objectives, ensuring that audit methodology and reporting meet goals, by considering any instances of non-compliance and by crafting recommendations for implementing solutions.

Applicants to the PAC should demonstrate integrity, credibility, trustworthiness, active participation, strong interpersonal skills, and the willingness to address issues proactively. Volunteer positions are available for representatives with diverse backgrounds and unique perspectives from throughout the county. Compared with other county boards and commissions, the time commitment for the PAC is minimal but interesting and engaging activity. Serving on the PAC doesn’t restrict volunteers from serving on other boards and commissions or in other volunteer capacities. Appointments are for a term of three years and limited to two consecutive terms. The next audit will be of the Prosecuting Attorney’s Office.
